Hopefully all students have been able to access everything they need in google classroom. Please reach out with any issues if that is not the case.

This week our focus will be reading in BOY, Tales of Childhood and creating some fun responses to our reading. Students will be creating a FLIPGRID video sharing their most exciting memory from their early childhood. They will be looking for literary devices and figurative language as they read, and reading about THE GREAT MOUSE PLOT, which is one of the greatest pranks ever pulled off with some of the greatest consequences as well. Here are some ways to access the story if your child does not have a copy.

To get in touch with me with any questions, I would prefer you email me or I can be reached at 314-223-0853

I hope everyone continues to be well and that your child was able to access the online curriculum provided. As a math team we are committed to creating accessible, attainable, and conceptually important material. Please contact me if there are any problems with any of the work we are pushing out.

This week students will focus on Unit 7, Rational Numbers, by comparing and ordering rational numbers. There will be three lessons focused on this concept. Each provides opportunities to answer questions and see answers. There are also links to practice opportunities as well. The other two days will consist of a "Would You Rather" problem and computation practice. Take Care

Good Morning! This week in American History, students will focus on the following assignments:

1. 1920s Virtual Museum Project
 - Do your best to make it a complete project for others to view and enjoy
 - Email Mr. Lopez with any questions
2. The Roaring 20s Reading Modules
 - You need to complete the reading and questions for the section that matches your group's virtual museum Topic
 - You ALSO need to complete the reading and questions for one other topic of your choice

I know some of you have completed both assignments and I appreciate your patience as I added to the second assignment. Please take note of the change and complete the reading and questions for one other topic from the 1920s Reading Modules.

Happy Tuesday - I hope everyone is doing well and staying healthy!

We are working in our Natural Selection Unit on Google Classroom. The first few assignments are reading and research based, but soon students will be doing simple online lab simulations as well as some hands-on activities that will require no supplies or materials.

If you have questions or need anything please reach out via email, davis.destiny@gmail.org or call if it is urgent 314-252-0813.

Finally, please stress to your students that while this online school is unorthodox, I am still expecting professional responses, especially when it comes to our Flipgrid video responses.
