

Study for Parents and Children in 4th or 5th Grade

Washington University's Program in Occupational Therapy seeks healthy 4th and 5th graders and their parent/guardian for a study on an app evaluating handwriting and motor control.

This is a one visit study that involves screening surveys and a handwriting task on an electronic tablet. The study lasts up to one hour. Each participant will receive $15.

Your child may be eligible if they

1. Are in or have just completed 4th or 5th grade
2. Are right-handed
3. Have no motor, cognitive, attention, or sensory impairments
 - For example: autism, ADHD, sensory processing disorder
4. Have had ≥ 6 months of cursive training in school
