Asynchronous Afternoon on Wednesday, October 7th

Students will not return to Zoom at 12:05 for math. Instead, students will go to their afternoon slides for some asynchronous math activities. They will need to go to our class Zoom link at 1:05 for P.E. class. Then they will return to the afternoon independent slides to wrap up their day.

Asynchronous Days on Monday, October 12th and Tuesday, October 13th

K-2 students in the responsive program will follow an all-day asynchronous learning plan. This will give K-2 teachers time to plan and set up their classrooms in preparation for students to return on Wednesday, October 14. Students will be assigned independent activities to complete on these days.

Return to School: Dr. Hays will be sending out a newsletter on Wednesday, October 7th with a lot of information. I will also continue to provide information you need to know. I am really looking forward to seeing your children in person. Although school will be different, I still want it to be a place where they can learn while feeling safe and happy. Please know you can contact me at any time with questions or concerns.

Few things:

- Our classroom will have desks that will be spaced out approximately 3ft apart. The kids will keep their belongings at their desk. We will follow mask and handwashing guidelines.
- Our schedule will include morning and afternoon recess, lunch from 10:50-11:20am and specials at 1:05-1:55pm. We will begin packing up around 2:30pm.
- After considering our time and space we will not be having snack time. I will need your help in encouraging you child to eat a healthy breakfast and to eat all of their lunch so they are comfortable until they return home for an afternoon snack.
- Supplies. Dr. Hays will be sending a list of needed supplies for each grade. I often shop school supply sales and stock up and I have class sets of some items. Your child does not need to bring crayons, glue sticks, thick markers and pencils. I will have sets of these items for each student in their desk. They will bring their fine tip markers and scissors and add to their individual bag. I will provide a checklist that you can use next week as your child packs for their return.

Dates to note:

- Wednesday, October 7th Asynchronous Afternoon
- Monday, October 12th and Tuesday, October 13th All-Day Asynchronous Learning
- Wednesday, October 14th First Day of In-Person Learning ☺
